What's New?

Fixed Bugs and other improvements

As with every new release of Fuze Desktop, this version includes performance and stability enhancements.

Additionally, the following bug fixes and other improvements are introduced in this release:

- Using extended characters in a ring group or call queue name no longer causes Fuze Desktop to quit unexpectedly upon answering a call.
- Bluetooth headsets now play audio from other apps while Fuze Desktop is running.
- Improved handling of User Datagram Protocol (UDP) network errors, resulting in greater stability and reduced instances of dropped calls.
